BRISTOL WOMAN LOSES SUIT FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

Court Directs Verdict in Favor of Defendant in Case of Mrs. Helen Gilkeson

SUED FOR $25,000.00

Worthington-Ott Suit for $115 Damages Heard By The Court

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 27.—In the case of Mrs. Helen K. Gilkeson, Bristol, against the Lehigh Valley Transit Company Judge Hiram H. Keller in the Bucks County Civil Court yesterday directed a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Mrs. Gilkeson was seeking $25,000 damages as the result of an accident along the defendant company's line in Bucks County that resulted in fatal injuries to her husband on June 27, 1933.

Mrs. Gilkeson's husband was driving a truck loaded with stone when a trolley car on the Allentown-Philadelphia line crashed into the truck on Deep Run Road between the Bethlehem Pike and Perkasio.

With J. Oscar Ott, of Pipersville, as the defendant, and John A. Worthington, of Carversville, as the plaintiffs, trial began in a $115 damage suit on Thursday afternoon before Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

The plaintiff, who is a minor, alleges that he was operating his car on the road leading from Pipersville to the Delaware River, on June 20, when it collided with a car driven by the defendant, Ott, who is a well-known milner.

An eye-witness, John M. Kirk, Amherst plumber, called as a witness for the defendant, testified that Worthington passed him going at the rate of more than 49 miles an hour.

"When I got up to the scene of the accident I told him, 'Boy, you were going too fast to make that curve in the road.'" Kirk, and his wife, both testified they were about three hundred feet or one hundred yards away from the scene of the accident.

They also testified that the collision took place at the beginning of a curve in the highway.

The plaintiff's car was damaged about the fenders and running board, but a wheel of the defendant's car was broken by the impact. He was accompanied by four members of his family.

A jury about 4.30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the defendant and against the plaintiff in the sum of $90.25.

A jury on Thursday afternoon returned a verdict of $750 in favor of Marion Brown, of Emaus, and Webster F. Mease, of Quakertown, and against Edith Snyder, of Perkasio, in one action, and also a verdict of $685.50 in favor of Webster F. Mease, of Quakertown, against Edith Snyder, of Perkasio, in another action.

Both actions grew out of an automobile accident in which Marion Brown was a passenger in the Mease car December 22, on the Doylestown-Quakertown highway.

In the first action Marion Brown claimed $5,000. Mease, in the second suit, claimed damages amounting to $3,000.

Council for the defendant, J. Leslie Kilcoyne, made a motion for a new trial and was given four days in which to file reasons by Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

Street Parade and Speaking Will Be Part of The Program

TOWN IS DECORATED

SELLERSVILLE, Apr. 27.—Sellersville will be decked in gala attire, with flags and bunting flying from every home, as it marks the laying of the cornerstone of its projected modern post office building, today.

All local officials and organizations will participate in the ceremonies which will be held at the site of the new building starting at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Burgess J. A. Kooker will have the honor of wielding the trowel that cements the cornerstone into place, preparatory to raising of the walls for the $60,000 federal building.

The leading speaker of the occasion is to be Clinton B. Eilenberger, third assistant postmaster general, who will deliver the dedicatory address as the cornerstone is put in place. Congressman Oliver Frey, of Bucks county, will also make an address.

The program will open with a short street parade, including the Perkasio-Sellersville High School Band, and the Nase-Kraft American Legion Post of Sellersville. These will march to the post office, where Luther Waldele will take charge of the ceremonies. Dr. J. H. Waldele will invoke the blessing, and members of Borough Council and the president of the Chamber of Commerce will be introduced.

The present postmaster, E. D. Smith, and the two living ex-postmasters, W. S. Schlechter and Harry Barndt will also be called upon.

Rev. C. E. Wenger will lead in prayer, and Rev. J. R. Shepley will pronounce the benediction.

The cornerstone will contain a box of monel metal, and will contain articles of local historical interest. These will include photographs of the color guard of the Nase-Kraft Post of the American Legion, the bronze memorial table at Main and Diamond streets and some views of the borough. All these were taken and contributed by Joseph W. Daub.

C. M. Berkemeyer presented post card views of Sellersville's first, second and third post office buildings.

There will be a 1934 set of coins presented by the Sellersville National Bank and 1934 commemorative stamps of the National Parks Album presented by Raymond High and David Cressman.

Summervue Temple, Ladies of the Golden Eagle, presents a lodge emblem and the P. O. of A. lodge Camp, No. 931, donates a silk American flag. Letters from the post office department and the other officials together with a letter signed by local residents will be included.

The Sellersville post office is one of the oldest in the North Penn. There are no living residents to remember the early history of its establishment except through tradition. It was established February 9, 1815, nearly 115 years ago.

Elias Sellers, proprietor of the "Sellers Tavern," was the first postmaster. The town bore this name until October 17, 1866, when the name of the post office was changed to Sellersville.

Change Place of Holding Marble Elimination Games

It has been found necessary to change the place for holding the girls' marble elimination contests. These contests will be played on the high school field, instead of the Wood street school yard as announced yesterday.

Today Miss Marguerite C. Colgan stated that because there is work being done in the Wood street school yard, it will be impossible to hold the contests there.

Monday the first, second, third and fourth wards will play, while on Tuesday the fifth and sixth wards and Edgely and Croydon will play. All games will begin at 4.30 and each contestant is requested to be accompanied either by the ward leader or a representative.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Daylight Saving Time will be ushered in tomorrow morning at two o'clock and once more the hands of the clocks, watches and timepieces in general will be moved ahead one hour. So, don't forget to push the hands of your time piece ahead one hour before you retire tonight.

YOUTH WEEK—1935

Oh, youth of our land, so noble and grand,
Step out from your portals today;
Banish your fears, as you hear our glad cheers,
See the Stars and the Stripes on display.

Take up the banner that we cast aside,
When disillusioned, our gudgeon had run;
Aim to do right through turmoil and strife
Until your goal of victory is won.

Dreams we cherished, that long since have perished,
We look for fulfillment to you;
Grasp firm at the wheel, with courage of steel;
Our faith in the future renew.

This old town of Bristol must look to its youth,
Our dreams and our hopes to revive.
Here's good luck to you, health and happiness, too,
Boys and girls of nineteen thirty-five!

YOUTH IS ON PARADE HERE THIS AFTERNOON AND WILL BE SERVED WITH FREE "EATS," BIG TREASURE HUNT ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

Today is the opening of Youth Week here and a parade of the youths of Bristol, Croydon and Edgely will be staged in the borough, beginning at 1.15 this afternoon.

Walter F. Leedom will be marshal of the parade.

Following the conclusion of the parade all of those who have participated will be served with free "eats" on the field opposite Leedom's mill.

Tomorrow will be Youth Day in the churches.

Monday afternoon at four o'clock a big treasure hunt will be held on the lot in the rear of the Grand Theatre.

The treasure hunt, sponsored by the Bristol Rotary Club, for valuable prizes on Monday afternoon at four o'clock, promises to be one of the feature events of Youth Week. There will be fun for every boy and girl who takes part in this new and novel game. There will be about 200 prizes, valued at $150, consisting of table lamps, bridge tables, mirrors, roller skates, sneakers, boxes of candy, oranges, money, and in fact, everything that the merchants of the community donated to make this one grand day, long to be remembered by the children.

And to make the day complete, Manager Edward Lynn expects to have a newsreel cameraman for the Fox Movietone News present to take pictures of the event, to be shown all over the country in Fox Movietone News.

So every boy and girl in Bristol is urged to get into the fun and into the picture. The event will take place Monday at four.

All children under 16 years of age are eligible and are requested to be at the foot of Pond street or in the parking space in the rear of the Grand Theatre before four o'clock.

Exactly at four p. m., Chief of Police Linford J. Jones will start the scramble for the prizes, giving the signal by one shot in the air from his revolver. Each child is then privileged to start and dig in the sand for the small vials in which some merchant's name is placed on a small coupon. When the child finds a vial and retrieves the coupon, he or she will then take it to the merchant who's name is on the coupon and present it at the merchant's place of business, where they will receive the prize of that particular merchant. If it should rain on Monday the hunt will be postponed until Friday, May 3rd, at the same hour. This is to give the soft sand a good chance to dry. There will probably be as many adults present to witness this novel affair as children, and the committee expects at least 2500 children to take part in the great treasure hunt.

The safety patrol and the committee will maintain order before and during the hunt.

Fail To Find Clue

Lancaster, Apr. 27.—State Police today failed to uncover any clues to indicate that Miss Ruth Neidman, 16, missing New York school girl, was ever a patient at Dr. H. C. Zimmerly's "house of mystery" at Mechanics Grove. Police were asked to search for the girl by her parents who believe she may have fallen into the clutches of the eccentric physician after disappearing last September while on her way to school in West Philadelphia, where she resided at that time. Charred bones found at the home of the elderly physician, held for performing illegal operations and misusing narcotics, have been identified by state police as those of Mrs. Gladys Lawson, 26, who disappeared after an operation at his house.

Zeid Awaits Doom

Trenton, N. J., Apr. 27.—In the death house at the state prison here, three cells from Bruno Richard Hauptmann, Charles Zeid, minor henchman of the once notorious Mals-Legenza gang, today awaited his doom in the electric chair on June 2nd. Culminating a three-day trial, in Camden, a jury of 12 men decided Zeid's fate in less than three hours late yesterday. The jury found him guilty of shooting to death Detective William Seitz last September in a Camden disorderly house. Mrs. Emma Heiser, proprietor of the house committed suicide two days after Seitz's murder by leaping from the fifth floor of the Camden city hall while being questioned by detectives. Zeid was the last of the cold-blooded mob organized by Robert Mals and Walter Legenza, both of whom were executed in Richmond, Virginia, in February for the murder of a bank truck guard. Two others of the gang, Martin Farrell and Frank Wiley are now awaiting death in the electric chair for the kidnap-murder of William Weiss, Philadelphia underworld baron.

APPLE BLOSSOM TIME IN CUMBERLAND VALLEY

Acres of Blooms, Millions of Trees Present Beautiful Sight

MECCA FOR MOTORISTS

Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles by which the State Department of Highways is endeavoring, through the newspapers, to stir interest in Pennsylvania as a desirable place in which to tour.

Prepared under the direction of Warren Van Dyke, Secretary of Highways, the articles aim to outline the worthwhile things the State has to offer tourists.

In today's story, the great Apple Region of the Cumberland Valley is described.

HARRISBURG, Apr. 27.—Apple Blossom time in the historic Cumberland Valley.

Acres of blooms, millions of trees, perfumed breezes in one of the most beautiful spots in the United States. Where once the roar of artillery reverberated through the hills at Gettysburg hard by in Adams County, today hundreds of peaceful farmhouses stand, where live the apple growers, who are devoting their lives to upholding Pennsylvania's supremacy as an apple-producing State.

Each mile traveled in the Cumberland Valley reveals a new historic treasure-trove and in early May when the apple trees are in bloom, this fruitful region of Franklin, Adams, Cumberland, and northern York Counties is indeed a veritable paradise.

Pennsylvania ranks third in the United States in the value of its apple crop. In 1934, Pennsylvania apple growers received $7,700,000 for the luscious treasure.

Cumberland Valley apples are shipped to every state in the Union and to many nations abroad. England and France each year buy a goodly portion of Pennsylvania apples at premium prices.

Adams County is well designated as the heart of the fruit belt in Pennsylvania and in Apple Blossom time it offers an especially delightful tour. Orchards are located along the foothills of the Appalachian Ridge which form a natural scenic background for the blossoms. Here York Imperials.

DR. ADA WRIGHT TELLS OF WORK AT N. J. GIRLS' HOME

Inform Bucks County Club Women How They Can Aid Girls in Need

AT SPRING SESSION

Gavel Turned Over to Mrs. Alfred A. Danser, Yardley, By Mrs. C. W. Swan

"You can't measure welfare work by a yard-stick; we live in deeds not words" was one of the pertinent phrases of Dr. Ada Wright, physician at the New Jersey State Home for Girls, Trenton, N. J., as she addressed the 236 women in attendance at the afternoon session of the Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs Spring Meeting in Bristol Presbyterian Church, yesterday.

The representatives from the 16 women's clubs in the county were told that they can aid much in directing the lives of girls in their communities who do not have good home environment, fine friends, and who are of low intelligence. "If you can save a girl or two a year from an institution, you will have done a great deed," she added.

Dr. Wright was the main speaker at the afternoon meeting, being introduced by Mrs. Theodore B. Mogargee, president of Bristol Travel Club, which group was hostess yesterday to the Federated Clubs of Bucks County. The chair, which was occupied by Mrs. Charles W. Swan, president of the county group, was turned over to the local president for the afternoon meeting.

Dr. Wright, who did not study medicine until after she was married and a mother, proved a most enlightening speaker, telling of the work done at the New Jersey Home for Girls. "You women do not realize the privileges and opportunities you have. When you see the people I see every day, you will realize how fortunate you are," she informed. After telling something of the fine method of regulation in state institutions, where men and women, boys and girls are aided, the speaker told of the "problems offered by the girls with whom she comes in contact. "The home is really the cause of much delinquency on the part of the girls, with divorce, death, poverty and sickness being contributing factors." Then telling of the need of aid on the part of women in the communities to help the girls who want and need such the physician informed "Many times it is the community's own negligence that makes children wayward. Many boys and girls who are twitted by their companions because of low mentality or physical defects are always on the defensive, and of course they can't cultivate a loving disposition. If there are in your communities such children, don't pass them over lightly. Show them kindness. I've never seen a girl we couldn't do something with if we made something of her."

The low mental type of girl was spoken of by Dr. Wright as the biggest problem at the institution where she is engaged. The girls, 320 in number, range from 8 to 17 years, and few are absolutely normal, it was stated. Some success has resulted from glandular treatment for the low mentally, but not all respond. "If we can take care of such in this manner we have saved the state from another low type of woman."

Going into another phase of the subject of the problems at the New Jersey State Home, Dr. Wright mentioned that she would like to see in the curriculum of a very school from the sixth grade up a subject taught dealing with marriage and motherhood. "If you'd see the girls in our country who are mothers at 13 and 14 years of age, you'd think we didn't start soon enough. We should teach them that life is beautiful, and that reproduction is one of the finest instincts. But we're just hushing such subjects. We do not handle our problems right." That there are 28,000 children in New Jersey who belong

The principal variety, offer abundant snow-white blossoms to the colorful panorama, with Staymans and other varieties adding a delicate pink to the picture.

In Adams County two and a half million bushels of apples were picked in 1934 with a market value of approximately $2,000,000. Franklin County accounted for $88,000 and Cumberland picked 197,000 bushels. York produced 440,000 bushels of apples.

One need not make a long and costly journey from any section of Pennsylvania to enjoy Apple Blossom time in the Cumberland Valley in early May.

Adams County apple growers have broadcast an invitation to public officials throughout the nation to visit the county during the time the trees are in bloom and in subsequent newspaper articles the exact time of blossoming will be published.

Scores of good roads have been constructed by the State to make the Cumberland Valley quickly reached and easily traversed.

A vast network of surfaced highways—more than 1,000 miles—penetrate the valley. Adams County has 354 miles of surfaced roads, Cumberland 361 miles, and Franklin 453 miles of fine roads.

The Lincoln Highway, U. S. Route Number 30—the Main Street of America—traverses Adams and Franklin Counties. U. S. Route 11 from the Deep South to the tip of New York passes through Cumberland and Franklin. U. S. Route Number 15 is an important route to Washington and the South, connecting Harrisburg with Gettysburg through Cumberland and Adams Counties.

These are merely the main trails tapping this rich and fertile region. Hundreds of miles of feeder and connecting roads reach into the interior of the apple country.

Approach this famous Cumberland Valley from any point and good roads meet you. The friendly hills add their share to the glories of Apple Blossom time.

There's beauty, relaxation and diversion to spare in the Cumberland Valley and it is as near as the wheel of your motor car.

EDDINGTON RACE DRIVER LOOMS BIG FOR SEASON

George (Doc) Mackenzie, the Eddington youth who passed up a medical career to handle careening, racing automobiles, promises to be an unusually potent factor in both speedway and dirt track competitions in the 1935 season.

Mackenzie has signed a contract to drive for Gilbert Pirrung, wealthy St. Louis sportsman, and it is reported that the "doctor" will be at the helm of one of the quickest machines of the year.

In 1934, Mackenzie spent the greater portion of his time campaigning in the middlewest, but he did get east long enough to grab fourth position in the Hankinson Circuit championship, and eighth in the AAA eastern states championship.

Pirung has built three new cars for the 1935 campaign. Two are the two-seater types, a rear-wheel drive to be handled at Indianapolis, May 30th, by Mackenzie, and a front-wheel drive for Wilbur Shaw, the steady little veteran from Los Angeles. The other is a single-seater for flat track competitions which Mackenzie will handle.

"From what I can learn of Pirrung's cars, they will be a decided improvement over last year," Mackenzie said.

And, speed fans who saw Mackenzie in action last season will readily admit the "physician" will be difficult to beat if he has anything faster than last year's machines.

Mackenzie drove one of the two-seaters in the 200-mile championship at Mines Field in Los Angeles last December. He qualified for the pole position, and at the end of the 120th mile, he had a four and one-half miles lead on the field. Gasoline feed trouble forced him to make three pit stops, one for seven minutes and he still landed in fourth place.

Hub's Hot Corner Hero

By BURNLEY

Baseball men rate the left side of the Boston Red Sox infield as the best on any team in the majors, and at least half of the credit for that high ranking must be given to Wild William Werber, speedy base pflinger who covers (and how!) the far turn for the flaming hose.

Bad Bill, a nasty man to bump into on the base paths, was generally conceded to be the most improved player in the American loop last season, when he was the unanimous choice for top rating among the league's third sackers.

Werber leaped to the fore with a rush when he was shifted from the shortstop position to the distant corner, and almost immediately began to outshine such highly touted third basemen as Pinky Higgins, rated the class of American League hot corner men, and Mary Owen, Detroit's candidate for honors at that post.

Bill, who was cast off by the Yankees in the Spring of 1933 in what was an ill-fated trade for the McCarthyen, has certainly rapped out revenge with base hits. His former team-mates would certainly find Werber a life-saver if he could come back to them now, for McCarthy is still none too well fortified at the far turn, with Red Rolfe still strictly an experiment.

Werber is a very capable caddy with the well-known ash, spanking out numerous drives to the tune of 321 last year, and, if anything, he is even more dangerous when he gets on the bases.

Far and away the leading bas thief of the majors, Wild William sneaked off with an even 40 cushions during the 1934 campaign, out-distancing his nearest rivals on the base paths by a wide margin.

It was always known that the Red Sox's streak of chained lightning was a good stickman and a flash on the paths, but before he was shifted to third base, Bill was almost a total loss in the field. The job of patrolling the far corner is apparently made to order for this hustling Hub hero, however, as he now has no fielding superior among the loop's third sackers, and is a tower of strength on the defense.

Will the Morrisville club repeat fifteen years later?

The Delaware League circuit will play its first game in Bristol on Saturday, May 4th, and who should be the rivals but the Hibernians and Morrisville. Already a little "grudge" exists between the teams because of the old time feuds between Bristol and their rivals.

By T. M. Juno

The Lower Bucks County Baseball League will operate with five teams: Newportville, Edgely Braves, Bristol A. A., Hulmeville, and the Bristol Hibernians. The Edgely Braves, who play Mulholland's team on the opening night, April 30, set the Bristol Twilight League record last season by winning nineteen straight contests.

Newportville A. A., under the management of Robert Lewis, took a big jump from the Bristol Suburban League to the Lower Bucks loop. Newportville gave the Edgely Braves a tough tussle several times last season and the Braves gave Hulmeville A. A. the Lower Bucks champs, quite a battle in their meetings and with the Hibernians and Bristol A. A. on a par, the league will be very well balanced.

Dave Landreth, czar of Bristol baseball, was interviewed by Manus Kline, sports editor of Station WTJN, last Saturday night. Landreth is president of the Bristol Twilight League, Lower Bucks County League, vice-president of the Delaware River League, and of the Youth Week baseball committee.

Baseball will officially get under way in this locality on Sunday, Bristol A. A. will play the All-Saints of Burlington, on Leedom's field. The Edgely Braves will have as their opponents, the Roebing Holy Name Society. Newportville and Newport Road Men's Club will also have a game booked. Hulmeville was scheduled to play Mount Holly but this was called off.

The Holmesburg A. A. team had four players of this vicinity in its lineup on Sunday. "Gige" Dougherty played third base; Warren Bruce, first; "Turner" Ashby pitched, as did "Bill" Grindel. Ashby and Grindel allowed nine hits between them. Bruce came up with a scupper on the receiving end of a double-play which cut short a Wisnominig rally, and Dougherty received a triple. Another player, "Vic" Rockhill, who is expected to cavort the shortstop territory, was ill and did not play.

"Spike" Tryon, who pitched for Bristol A. A. last season went South for a try-out with a major league team. He returned and is now headed north to hurl in the New York State League.

In the office of Justice of Peace Nolan, Morrisville, is a cup and a banner which was awarded to the Morrisville A. A. team for winning the baseball championship of the Delaware River Baseball League in 1920.

HOWE WINS HONORS IN TABLE TENNIS MATCH

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 27.—Ted Howe, Penn State celluloid ace who was some on his Easter vacation, captured the championship of Lower Bucks County in the table tennis world with an easy 4 to 0 victory over Jack Scullin. Howe had previously vanquished Earl Wood in 3 straight games in the semi-final round while Scullin was the victor over Joe Schwind, brilliant but erratic blond, in the other semi-final duel in a like number of games.

The Penn Stater, using a hard, deceptive curve ball serve, had Scullin on the defense throughout the entire battle, winning the first game by 21-11. The latter could get but one more point in the second game but came back in the third game to drop a close 23-21 tiff. Howe, however put on the pressure in the final game, and with beautiful placements and fine deceptive shots easily won the final game and the match by a 21-16 score. Ted was invincible last night and continued his fine exhibition which has marked all his earlier round embroilings.

Director Bob White, who made the tourney such a success, presented the champion with the Otto Groen trophy, emblematic of the Lower Bucks County Table Tennis Tournament championship for 1935. The cup will remain in Howe's possession for a year when it will again be put up for competition. Jesse Huggins, Sr., acted as judge for last night's matches.

SUNDAY BALL SEASON OPENS HERE TOMORROW

Bristol and vicinity will have its first taste of baseball competition tomorrow when four games are carded. On Leedom's field, Bristol A. A. will play the All-Saints, of Burlington. At Edgely, the Edgely Braves will also Tullytown, or rather Michael Lynch of that borough, had quite a distinguished guest as a visitor last Tuesday. It was none other than Steve Hannas, heavyweight championship boxing contender. Hannas as boxing enthusiasts know, is the Penn State College lad who made good in the prize ring and who recently lost a fight to Max Schmeling, in Berlin, Germany, last month.

Steve and Mike Lynch are natives of Wallington, N. J., and boyhood pals, but since Lynch left his home town to work at the Paterson Parchment Company's mill at Edgely, he has been living in Tullytown... hence the visit to an old friend, and was "Mike" pleased!

have a Jersey opponent, meeting the Holy Name Club of Roebing, Hulmeville A. A. and the Bristol Hibernians will clash on the new Hulmeville grounds in the rear of the Vornhold Paper Company. The fourth game is between the Newportville rivals, Newportville A. A. and the Newport Road Men's Club.

Most of the games are being played with the expectation of helping to get the players in shape for the leagues which open next week. The followers of the various teams will have a chance to look their favorites over and compare them with the other clubs as the schedule gets under way. Bristol A. A.'s opponent, the All-Saints, applied for admission into the Lower Bucks County League, and Bristol rooters will decide for themselves whether this team should be a second half entry into the circuit.

Hulmeville and the Hibernians are both members of two circuits, the Lower Bucks County League and Delaware River League. Newportville and Edgely are both in the Lower Bucks circuit, with Newport Road Men's Club in the Bristol Twilight League.

Incidentally, the Knights of Columbus and Tullytown, who open the Twilight League here Monday evening are idle, having held their practice sessions last week.

PENN-JERSEY BOCCIE LEAGUE OPENS TOMORROW

St. Ann's Athletic Association clubhouse and grounds will be the scene of a celebration of the forming of the Penn-Jersey Bocce League, tomorrow, when the officers and players of the league gather for their grand opening festivities. The league will play its first games on the following Sunday.

Speakers will be heard from the following teams of the circuit: St. Ann's, Bristol Bocce Club, Bristol Democratic Club, Italian-American Republican Club, Tacony, Riverside Bocce Club, and the Tacony Independent Italian-American Club. Also among the guests of honor will be "Joie" Grim, Italian heavyweight champion, of years back and "Tommy" Howell who at one time was welterweight champion of the world. Both of these boxing enthusiasts have many friends in Bristol.

Five hundred bocce fans from Bristol and the towns of the teams in the loop are expected to attend the affair which will be held from morning until late at night. The guests will play bocce, tennis, volley ball, and quads during the day while in the evening refreshments will be served in the clubhouse followed by dancing.

The committee in charge of the affair is composed of: Michael Giordano, chairman; Anthony Sabatini, Samuel Moffo, John Diodati, Antonio Pettillo, Michael Maradonna, Ottavio Luzzi and Nicholas Virgotti.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Courier today presents the boy favorite of the thrilling detective-adventure strip, RADIO PATROL.

HERE COME PINKY AND IRISH Two Great Pals Who Are Always Helping to Track Down the Criminal in RADIO PATROL

Here's Pinky and his dog, Irish. It looks like Pinky is going into hiding for a while, for the creators of that thrilling detective-adventure strip, RADIO PATROL, have equipped him with a brand-new hunting outfit and rifle. Of course Pinky isn't going to be caught napping, for he is bringing along a disguise in the event he runs into the "Cap" and his gang. Watch for other cut-outs to follow. Eddie Sullivan and Charlie Schmidt have promised to bring you Officer Pat on Saturday, May 4th.

to the State Board of Guardians was one fact driven home.

"Women, we have a lot of power, but we just don't use it. What are we going to do about the adolescent boy and girl. We should teach biology just like we teach other subjects. The problem is here; let us handle it like sensible persons should..." Every baby that's born from inferior minds make our race chain that much weaker...

It's our business to educate these people as best we can, and show sympathy for those in need... And furthermore, no boy or girl should be sent out of their own community to a state institution until every local resource has been tried in an endeavor to aid them. The club women were urged to go into the homes where there are problem children. "See if there is some agency that can care for that problem child, before it is sent into court. Every woman's club should have someone to go into juvenile court when a local girl is before a judge, and that person should inform the judge that the group she represents stands ready to aid the girl in need. See what can be done for that child. She might need only encouragement and a chance. You'll be surprised at the good you, your club, and the girl will get out of it. These girls are not on a par with other people, and they feel it. They have no security of home, their clothes are not very nice, they have few friends. Take an interest in them."

The afternoon meeting opened with singing of the state song, after which awards in the poetry contest were announced by Mrs. Daniel Erdman, of Quakertown. This contest is conducted annually by the county Federation, and winners this year are: First, Mrs. Pemberton Guenther, Buckingham; second, Mrs. Russell Ellis, Bristol; third, anonymous poem from the Quakertown Woman's Club.

The soloist at this second session was Mrs. Helen Paul Shomo, Philadelphia. Included in Mrs. Shomo's numbers were: "My Mother Bid Me Bind My Hair," "She Never Told Her Love," "Down in the Forest," "I Love and the World is Mine," "Happy Song," and "A Little Bit of Honey." The registrar's report was given by Mrs. David O. Taylor.
